To use any one or more of People's Remedies is to like them, and to make renewed calls for them whenever their need is felt. There are seven different kinds, and no one is recommended as a "torus all." newed calls for them whenever their need is felt. There are seven different kinds, and no one is recommended as a "cure all." Each has its place and in that case works wonders. For instance, the Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic will cure all blood diseases and restore and build up the nerves; the Capitol Bitters will at once bring on the appetite and increase the strength; the Catarth Remedy readily beals catarrh; the Improved Cough Honey breaks up colds and cares coughs; the Golden Relief cures any pain or inflammation, and the St. Vitus Dance. So each has its place. They are all special remedies except the Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic, which is a remedy for regulating the general system. They all act better and quicker when the system is under the healing and regulating influence of the Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic. For instance, Catarth is readily cound to the the Catarth. courts, but hardly deemed it necessary at Tonic. AN ELEGANT MONUMENT.—A monument of unique design and superior fisish has just been completed at the Oliver martle and granite works, in fulfillment of an order from New York. The monument is of the reasistance style, and an entirely original design. The massive base weighs five tons, and the total weight about sixteen tons, Certainly this specimen of skill fully warrants the high reputation his establishment enjoys, as we do not remember ever to have seen a monumental structure that in all particulars so fully met the requirements of the most cracting taste.

HERRICK—In West Charleston, on the morning of July 19th, Russell, youngest son of Rev. Wm. T. Herrick, aged 32 years. Very early in life the de cased became a christain, uniting with the Congregational church in Carendon, of which his fatherwas at that time the settled pastor. He was a studious youth, possessing an active mind and remarkably retentive memory, giving promise of usefulness in the future. Seven or eight years since his health began to fail and symptoms of heart disease appeared. Gradually other difficulties of a very serious character were developed, thus complicating the case and baffling the skill of the ablast physicians of our country. A long period of great debility and suffering followed, but he was sustained by a hope and trust in his Savior which was bright and sideafnast to the last. He has left to his friends a beautiful example of patience and sweet christian resignation in the endurance of trials through which few are called to pass.

"In the selection of building stone, color, texture and durability, are of the first impertance, and all ought to be combleed to render the structure perfect.

Barre, in Vermont, is a whitish gray color, with the component parts very distinctly granular, and evenly mixed throughout, containing less mice than the Concord and Fitz William Granules, and producing one of the finest building materials in the country; possessing a fine color strength and discability."

Report of Prof. Hitchcock, late state geologist of Massachusetts, and Smithsonian In stitute, Washington, D. C:
"In Vermont the Grace's is unusually fine and admirably fitted for architectural purposes. A better example cannot be referred to than that (from Barre) of which the state house, at Montpeller, is built. We have never met with a facer kind of Grantle for buildings and maniments in this er any other country."

NOW OPENITO THE PUBLIC

This house, erected on the site of the hotel burned in 1876, has just been completed, and is now open for the reception of guests. The new hotel is much larger than the old one, and more conveniently arranged. It is rurnibled throughout with black walnut turniture, and has all the latest improvements, both in furnishings and general arrangement. It is lighted throughout by gas, heated by steam, has hot ahd cold water and bath rooms on each floor, in short, everything that genius has invented and money can buy, for the comfort of travelers, has been placed in the Bates House for the use of its guests.

The table of the old Bates House was its expectal pride, and the new one will be fully equal to the old in that respect. The culsine arrangements in the new hotel are second to no hotel in this section, and the tables will be amply provided with the beat the market a fords, cooked and served in first-class style.

A Solace for the Aged.

In the decline of life, as the vigor of the sys tem wanes, and infirmities attack it to which in early life it was a stranger, the use of a safe medicinal stimulant is highly advisable. Nothing, as experience shows, is so admirably adapted to the wants of old people as Hostet adapted to the wants of old people as Hoster's Stomach Bitters. It is a real solace to the sged, and the best safeguard they can possibly use against the complaints to which they are p-cullarly liable. It invigorates the body and cheers the mind, is pure, agreeable and effective. Rheumatism, lumbago and gout are more frequently developed in age than in youth or middle life. Hostetter's Bitters are an excellent remedy for those paintid disorders, and also fortify the system against them. They never create undue excitement, are gentle in the ir action, and are insuftly purer than the unmedicated stimulants of commerce.
